SALES TAX FOR BUSINESS ENTERPRISES

As Malaysia repeals its unpopular goods and services tax (GST), the sales and service tax (SST) comes into force from September 1, 2018. The new Sales Tax Act 2018 is an enhanced version of the 1972 legislation.

Though simple in its mechanism, the sales tax, which is levied on the manufacturing and oil and gas sectors, poses challenges in its scope of coverage, administration and compliance matters with hefty responsibilities on company directors and stiff penalties for non-compliance.

Sales Tax for Business Enterprises is a complete practical guide that explains the essential concepts, methodology and framework of the Sales Tax Act 2018. The definition of "manufacturing", the invoice issued and its format, returns submission, payment compliance, taxable person, taxable period, sales value determination, bad debts refund and recovered, offences and penalties are all elucidated with many practical examples and illustrations to facilitate easy comprehension.

The law is stated as at 1 November 2018.

PRACTICAL APPLICATIONS TO SERVICE TAX ACT 2018

Service tax is applied on selected prescribed service providers as set out in the Service Tax Regulations 2018. The wider scope of its application together with the dynamic business activities gives rise to many real and contentious issues to most businesses, and remain unresolved even to tax professionals.

The best method to completely comprehend the new service tax is by working through service tax issues, and to be guided by a tax specialist via suggested business solutions.
