Malaysian Taxation 2026 Principles and Practice [32nd edition]

Forthcoming 17 May 2026!

Malaysian Taxation – Principles & Practice, 32nd ed is an authoritative tax reference, updated annually, and is arguably the most complete, accurate and comprehensive leading text in Malaysia tax arena. Its 40 chapters encompass income tax, withholding tax, real property gains tax, dividend tax, capital gains tax, sales tax and service tax.

The book provides extensive coverage of business, employment and investment income, together with business deductions and capital allowances (incorporating industrial building allowance, agriculture allowance and forest allowance). Tax administration covering self-assessment, collection, return submission, penalties and offences are systematically discussed, explained in terms of its operations and practical applications. Statutory domestic appeals, judicial review, tax computation for companies, partnerships and individuals are included for completeness.

It incorporates the latest legislative developments, including the Finance Act 2025 and the Measures for the Collection, Administration and Enforcement of Tax Act 2025. The content is further enriched with extensive references to 10 Public Rulings, 4 IRB Practice Notes, 6 Operational Guidelines, 18 Technical Guidelines, 5 audit and compliance frameworks, Professional Dialogues, PU(A) orders, as well as relevant case law decisions in 2025 and 2026.

This book is designed as a tax learning companion for accounting and business students in local colleges and universities, as well as accounting apprentices preparing for professional examinations. It demystifies complex tax concepts while maintaining technical depth and accuracy, with a strong emphasis on practical application and real-world computation.

It serves as an indispensable tax reference for auditors, tax agents, finance personnel, lawyers and professionals pursuing a career in taxation.

The law is stated as at 15 April 2026.
